

You like Football? You are interested in New Media and mobile Apps?

motain is one of the leading global publishers of mobile sports content. As an early enabler in this field, during the last 4 years motain has been specialized on the development, operations and marketing of mobile sports apps. With its main product iLiga - The Football App, motain offers the mobile football platform No. 1. as a one-stop-shop product for football fans from all over the world. Furthermore, motain works as the official mobile provider and marketer for leading German Bundesliga clubs as well as international sports leagues and associations. With a wide range of publishing channels from smartphones and tablets to TVs, motain is able to attract and retain premium advertisers. In order to support our product management and development teams, we are looking for a creative and passionate new team member.
